Frightened and rendered uncontrollable by a passing automobile, a horse belonging to J. D. Campbell, of 2211 Taylor Street, plunged over the embankment of the lake in Reservoir Park early hast night and was drowned, the two occupants of the vehicle narrowly escaping going in with the buggy.

Mr. Campbell was accompanied by Miss Hattle Bradley. He was driving along the road around the lake, and was opposite Idlewood Park, at the lights of which he and his companion were gazing when the accident halppened. Suddenly and without warning an automobile loomed up in the darkness, taking the left side of the road instead of the right side, as should have been done in following ordinary traffic laws. The horse became thoroughly frightened. He reared, swerved to one side, and then made a dash for the embankment, which at the was entirely unmanageable, and Mr. Campbell, seeing the peril before him, called to Miss Bradley to jump.

She sprang before the buggy left the roadway, but Mr. Campbell clung to the reins until the horse was half-way over the bank, and then he, too jumped for his life.

The assessment, which will stand for the next five years, gives the lands in the city a value of $3,495,511. This is an increase over the showing of 1905 of $438,288, the old figures being $2,057,092.

is an increase over the showing of 1905 of $438,288, the old figures being $3,057,223.

In buildings the proper comparison is with 1909, since these are rearranged each year by the commissioners of the revenue. For 1911 the buildings are valued at $4,474,200, against $3,087,557 for 1909—an increase of $458,643.

The total of real estate values is thus seen to be $7,969,711, while the old assessment amounted to $7,044,780, The increase is $224,931, or 13.1 percent.
